

(an)drew tarvin

FOUNDER & CEO OF HUMOR THAT WORKS
HUMOR ENGINEER AUTHOR
CONSULTANT
TEDX SPEAKER
PUN TWEETER

short bio (100 words)

Andrew Tarvin is the CEO of Humor That Works, a leadership development company that teaches professionals how to use humor to achieve better business results. He has partnered with top organizations--including IBM, the UN, and the FBI--to solve human challenges with humor solutions.

A best-selling author, Andrew has been featured in The Wall Street Journal, Inc, and FastCompany, and was named a 'Visionary Under 40' by the P&G Alumni Network. His TEDx talk on the skill of humor has been viewed more than ten million times, only half of which were by his mother.

He loves chocolate and tweeting puns.

ADDITIONAL CLIENTS

Adobe, Bloomberg, Boston Red Sox, Cal Berkeley, Dow Jones, ESPN, FBI, Gorilla Glue, IBM, Johns Hopkins University, Microsoft, Morgan Stanley, NASA, Nationwide, P&G, PepsiCo, PMI, PwC, Remax Europe, Red Cross, Sanofi, Simon Sinek Inc, the United Nations, US Navy, Vanguard.

ADDITIONAL PUBLICATIONS

Business Insider, Crains New York, FastCompany, Forbes, Huffington Post, Inc, The List, NPR Columbus, Thrive Global, The Wall Street Journal, plus affiliates for ABC, CBS, NBC, and Fox.